President Names Three-Man Board

Will Investigate Strike of 4,500 Atomic Plant Workers

Washington, July 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower today named a three-member fact finding board to investigate the strike of 4,500 atomic energy plant workers. The board began its inquiry at once.

Appointment of the board, headed by former atomic energy commissioner Thomas Keith Glennan, is a major step toward ending walkouts at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., plants which threaten production of the vital ingredient for atomic and hydrogen bombs.

Can Ask Order

The government can apply for a court order halting the walkout as soon as the board makes its report.

Under a presidential order the board has until July 20 to complete its inquiry but White House counsel Bernard M. Shadley told reporters the report undoubtedly would be completed long before then.

There was unofficial speculation the government would seek an injunction by the end of this week.

Named to the board with Glennan, who now is president of Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland, were:

John L. Floberg of Washington, D. C., assistant secretary of the navy for air from 1949 to 1953; Paul H. Sanders of Nashville, Tenn., professor of law at Vanderbilt University and a former regional attorney for the Labor Department.

U.S. Demands Red Czechs Return Soldiers at Once

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The United States has served Red Czechoslovakia with a brusque demand for the "immediate return" of seven U. S. soldiers who this government charges were kidnapped last Sunday.

The State Department disclosed last night that an exceptionally stiff note was delivered to the Czech foreign office in Prague yesterday afternoon.

That note dismissed an unfounded Czech claim that the seven—a captain and six enlisted men—were spying when they were seized by a Czech border patrol near the West German town of Baernau.

But a few hours after the U. S. note was handed to Czech diplomatic officials, the Communist satellite government repeated its espionage charge in a Prague radio broadcast heard in Vienna.

The U. S. note, protesting "in the strongest terms this abduction of American soldiers," said the Americans "were proceeding innocently without arms along the (Czech-German) border... when they were seized by a Czech patrol."

The army withheld public identification of the soldiers pending notification of next of kin but the Czechoslovak news agency Ceteka, contacted by telephone in Prague today from Vienna, named them as Capt. Jack Davis, Pvt. Richard Jumper, Pfc. Leonard Tennis, Cpl. John Glasson, Pvt. Ross Ginnis, Pfc. George Switzer and Pfc. Jerry Griffith. Ceteka could give no home addresses for them.

Army spokesmen in Germany have said the soldiers were on leave and may have crossed the Czech border by mistake while

Thorne Inquest Recessed; Judge Warns Attorneys

Chicago, July 8 (AP)—The inquest into the mysterious death of Montgomery Ward Thorne was in recess today after Coroner Walter McCarron warned attorneys for the mother of the mail order heir to make good promises of startling evidence.

Mrs. Marion Thorne, on the witness stand yesterday for the second straight day, testified her 20-year-old son had been blackmailed and told McCarron the identity of the person or persons "will come out and you will certainly be surprised."

However, under direct questions, Mrs. Thorne admitted she had no direct knowledge of blackmail.

Henry Kalcheim, an attorney for Mrs. Thorne, promised a "bombshell" at resumption of the inquest next Wednesday. He said the "truth" about Thorne's death would be brought out then.

McCarron demanded that Kelcheim testify under oath about whatever information he had. Kelcheim refused on grounds of legal privilege.

Another attorney for Mrs. Thorne, Bartlett S. Marimon, said they were conducting their

Lattimore Key Perjury Count Ends

Court of Appeals Also Dismisses Another, Reinstates Two Based on Testimony

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals today upheld the dismissal of two perjury charges against Owen Lattimore, including the key count, but ordered two other counts reinstated.

The Court of Appeals agreed with U. S. District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl that the key count, charging Lattimore swore falsely when he said he was not a Communist sympathizer or promoter of Communist causes, was invalid.

The Appeals Court also upheld dismissal of a charge that Lattimore committed perjury when he told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that it was not necessary for him to have the permission of Communist authorities for a visit to Yenan, then the Communist stronghold in China, and that he made no arrangements with Communists in order to get in.

Plans Under Consideration

Leslie Roe, president of the Poughkeepsie firm, told The Freeman his plans were "undecided at present" but that "several alternatives" were under consideration. Renovations on the exterior will begin in the near future. Extensive alterations are also planned for the interior, but Roe said he was not ready to announce them yet.

The building was sold by its owners, Mrs. William J. Soper of 287 West Chestnut street, manager of Jellico Realty Company, and her sister, Mrs. Walter F. McCall of Ridgefield, N. J.

Raymond E. Craft, Kingston real estate business broker, negotiated sale of the property. Attorney Vincent Connolly represented the sellers and Attorney George Kaufman the buyer.

Top Floor Occupied

The top floor of the building is occupied at present by The Beacon Company, dress manufacturers.

The building, which has a wing on Pine Grove avenue, occupies three and a half acres in the center of the city.

The building also has an entrance on Susan street at the rear of the Fuller Shirt Co., Inc.

A small brick building in the rear was rented recently by Fuller for storage purposes.

Purchased by Lencke

The structure continued to be used by H. W. Palen and Sons as a woodworking plant until the late 1920's at which time the firm discontinued operation.

It remained vacant until 1934 at which time it was purchased by the late John K. Lencke who died in 1946.

After its purchase by Lencke it was occupied by offices of the Works Progress Administration for some time and later by The Beacon Co. and by Kingston Dress, Inc. The latter firm left the building about a year ago.

Lencke's daughters, Mrs. Sophie and Mrs. McCall came into joint ownership of the property after the death of their father.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The cash position of the treasury July 2—Balance, $6,375,051,119.00; deposits fiscal year July 1, $251,424,302.68; withdrawals fiscal year $603,728,319.75; total debt, (x) $274,271,419,800.95; gold assets, $21,927,010,853.08; (x) includes $545,417,564.58 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Carroll told a reporter: "The sale is not going to be held tomorrow, and I don't think it ever will be held, in my opinion."

Refuses Comment

Ewig refused to comment on the possibility that the sale may be postponed indefinitely, emphasizing that his statement regarding postponement one week was his only statement and had no strings.

Carroll, meanwhile, revealed that the corporation at present is developing a new model—a small four-wheel garden type tractor with a seat for the operator—and is planning to continue in operation.

He estimated that the company has sold about $4 million worth of products, about 95 percent of them sold outside the county, and has spent about $1 1/2 million within the county in wages, services and other items.

The company, in addition to owning the St. James street

George Clinton Came Back Home In U.S. Submarine

Naval Inspector Recalls Day Cuttlefish Came to City With Body

The body of George Clinton, New York state's first governor, which lies beneath a monument in front of the Old Dutch Church, arrived in Kingston in the summer of 1907 aboard one of this nation's earliest submarines.

The governor's reaction, had he realized he was proceeding upstream in the USS Cuttlefish, is a matter of speculation—but to hundreds of flag-waving Kingstonians lining the banks of the Hudson it was a unique and exciting event.

Coady Was in Crew

Among the Cuttlefish's crew of 10 was Edward W. Coady of West Camp, naval inspector attached to the Hiltibrant Dry Dock, Inc.

The slight, vigorous Coady, who served as chief electrician aboard the 60-foot Cuttlefish, remembers the occasion vividly.

"The entire hills were covered with people waving flags. There was a big demonstration." The submarine tied up at Kingston Point pier. Coady believes it was Memorial Day. The Cuttlefish, commanded by Capt. Edward J. Marquardt, now a retired admiral, was escorted by two sister submarines, the Viper under Capt. Clyde E. Bingham, and the Tarantula under Capt. Joseph Daniels.

Crew in Dark

Curiously enough, the crew of the Cuttlefish was unaware the body was that of Governor Clinton, who died in 1812 while serving as vice-president in Congress.

"We knew we had somebody in there but didn't know who he was." The leaden casket in which Clinton had been buried almost a century earlier had been en-

Two Churches Burn; Two False Alarms Are Given

Ramapo, July 8 (AP)—Flames burst out in two churches five miles apart within a short time early today and two false alarms were turned in from fire boxes in another community, leading to a wide investigation.

At Viola, about 30 miles north of New York, the Viola Baptist Church was discovered enveloped in flames at 1:24 a. m. Firemen were unable to save any part of the frame building, and it was destroyed.

At Nanuet, five miles southeast of Viola, the roof of the big Nanuet Lutheran Church, also a frame building, was discovered burning at 1:32 a. m. Firemen confined the flames to the upper part of the building. In addition to the destroyed roof, there was heavy water damage to the church.

Police said the Viola church had been burning for some time before the fire was discovered, and the two churches could have been set afire by the same person.

The fire department at Suffern also in Rockland county, received two false alarms from call boxes. One was at midnight and the other at 3 a. m. The latter was from a box behind Good Samaritan.

Opening Is Not Held Up By Removal

Could Not Be Used as Fill, Engineer Says; Praises Work of Contractor

A half million yards of clay and silt which was encountered on the John Arborio Company, Inc., contract in the vicinity of the Rondout creek crossing south of Kingston, is not expected to delay opening of that section of the New York State Thruway, it was stated today by J. S. Bixby, district engineer, New York State Department of Public Works.

When the contractor found great deposits of oozy material from Maple Hill south toward the Rondout creek and again south of the Rondout creek, it appeared as though this troublesome material would delay work on the contract and perhaps postpone opening of that section.

No Quantity Anticipated

While it is known that certain types of clay are encountered in the Hudson valley (typical manufacturing), it was not expected the soft flowing type of clay would be encountered in any quantity in the vicinity of the thruway crossing over the Rondout creek.

The first difficulty was met south of Route 32 where the thruway alignment runs toward the Rondout. There clay at depths varying to 60 feet was encountered and found unsuited for fill.

Narrow sections of main city streets would be widened, a traffic circle would be built in the area of Broadway, East St. James street and Albany avenue, and Fair street extension would be connected with the spur.

On Fair Street Extension

Surveyors were working today along Fair street extension. The work is being done by the contract engineering firm of W. H. McFarland, of Binghamton, and the surveyors have been on the job for three or four weeks.

Some surveys have been made on the lowland north of the city.

The arterial route plan also called for a new approach to the Rondout creek bridge on the Kingston side, but it has been indicated that this phase of the system will be delayed until other factors are determined and it is also possible that this phase of the plan will be abandoned.

The route plan is aimed at keeping most through-traffic away from narrow streets in the city's business areas as well as from residential sections. It would eliminate much of the heavy flow over the Esopus creek bridge and Washington avenue viaduct.

Some of the clay and silt, Bixby stated, had been found suitable for use on slopes and shoulders when mixed with other "granular" material but the bulk of the material was removed and stacked.

Tests made prior to awarding the contract revealed that the material in the vicinity was "not too good" for fill but it was not known at that time the difficult character of the clay.

Falses Company

"Great credit should be given the Arborio Company for aggressiveness in carrying on the work throughout the winter and for the progress made under difficult circumstances," Bixby said and he stated that the contractor was "very optimistic" that the work would be completed this fall.

At one time five cranes were used to "relay" the material. One machine equipped with a drag line would scoop up the clay and relay it to another which would in turn move it to the right of way for that purpose.

Concrete Pouring Underway

Action is also now underway to eliminate the viaduct regardless of reduced traffic after the thruway is opened, and Corporation Councilor James J. Abernethy is working toward obtaining an order from the Public Service Commission for elimination of the structure.

The thruway is scheduled to be completed for some distance south of the city in the fall and by next year the effect of travel over the expressway on this city should be well determined.

Concrete is Now Being Poured

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, July 7—The Community Association of Mt. Tremper and Mt. Pleasant, Inc., held its regular monthly meeting in the former schoolhouse Thursday night with president Burton Lane presiding. A committee was appointed to paint the walls and varnish the shelves of the free lending library which will soon be open to the public. Plans were made to hold the first Saturday night square dance of the summer season July 17 at 8:45 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. John Szekretar, their son, Charles and nephew, Kenneth, returned to Lynbrook Saturday after spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Umhey. Mr. Szekretar is Mrs. Umhey's brother.

Estelle and Barbara Epstein, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Epstein, left Thursday for Camp Stony Clove, near Tannersville, where they will spend the summer.

The professional fireworks display sponsored by the Phenicia Chamber of Commerce at the Kinsey Airport Friday night was well attended. Members of the Phenicia Post of the American Legion, the Phenicia Volunteer Fire Company, state troopers and deputy sheriffs assisted the Chamber of Commerce members in directing traffic and maintaining order.

Francis and John Ecker, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ecker, are attending camp.

The opening of the black bass season at the Ashokan Reservoir Saturday saw many fishermen lining the banks and out in rowboats. Among local anglers who participated were Harry Carle, Frank Carle, Jr., Robert Finkel, Carl Larish and John Schlegel.

Mrs. Jennie Fazio of Brooklyn and Mt. Tremper has reopened the Will House on the Wittenberg road for the season.

Local hotels, boarding houses, cottages and tourist homes were filled to capacity over the weekend.

Mrs. Mabel Riesley celebrated a birthday Saturday. Her guests at the Mountain Breeze feasted her with a party and a cake, which was made and decorated by Mrs. Elizabeth Somerville.

Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Heller and son, Richard, are spending a month's vacation at their home on the Wittenberg road. Dr. Heller is a Brooklyn pediatrician. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schuhose of Brooklyn and Mt. Tremper, spent the holidays at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hasbrouck of East Orange, N. J., spent the weekend at their cottage on Mt. Tremper Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Friesendorf drove from Mendham, N. J., to their home here for the three days. A party of friends accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Schmidt of Queens spent the weekend at the Schuhose cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lutz of Glendale and here have reopened their home on Umhey Mountain. Mrs. Lutz and their five children will remain here until school opens, with her husband coming up for weeks end and vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Hirschberg have reopened their summer home in this village. Mrs. Hirschberg is recuperating from an illness she contracted in Orlando, Fla., this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Velardi drove from Mamaroneck Friday to weekend at their home on Umhey Mountain. Their daughter, Emily, accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hornick of Queens Village spent the day here Sunday. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hornbach and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Schuhose. The Hornicks are former local residents.

To Prepare Cream

Many fresh fruits taste delicious served with frozen cream. To prepare the cream, beat it until it begins to thicken, then gradually beat in sugar, taste and vanilla until stiff. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator until firm. Try this on a combination of pineapple, apricots, strawberries or raspberries and banana.

Blend mashed banana with homogenized milk; serve over coffee or chocolate ice cream for a delicious flavor.

Mrs. Hasbrouck Is Acting Director of Cancer Services

Mrs. Matthew Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge has been designated as acting director of the volunteer services of the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society, by Mrs. Laurence Marble, N. Y. State Director of Field Services.

The appointment follows the resignation of Mrs. Edwin Shumate from the assignment, and will continue until a choice has been made of a permanent county resident for the post.

Mrs. Hasbrouck has served for more than 10 years as a volunteer with the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society in the capacity of state director of publicity and editor of "The Challenge," the news quarterly of the field services.

Among other projects which are in the making for the furtherance of service to the residents of Ulster county is the establishment of the near future of a Friendly Red Door in Kingston. These headquarters for clearance of educational material, information and dressings for the cancer patient, have proved valuable assets to the work of the American Cancer Society throughout upstate New York.

The Friendly Red Door will operate in conjunction with the cancer headquarters which is situated in the Tumor Clinic on Broadway. It will be located on Clinton avenue around the corner from Pearl. It is hoped that it will be able to open its doors to the public shortly.

Red Killings Resumed

Hong Kong (AP)—Purge and terror seem to be on the flood again in Communist China. A series of policy statements by the official Peiping Peoples Daily lately on political, legal and police work, call for tightening up against "criminal elements, saboteurs . . . counter revolutionaries . . . law breaching industrialists and merchants." Similar statements preceded the slaughters of 1951-52 and the lesser killings last year. They seem to reflect break-downs in Communist controls, new resistances, wavering loyalties. The news of the purges are pouring in from independent sources, some of which say as many as a hundred are being shot at a time in some cities.

Tentative Pact Reached

Yonkers, July 8 (AP)—Tentative agreement has been reached between Alexander Smith Inc., rug manufacturers, and the CIO Textile Workers Union for temporary reopening of the company's big plant here. The reopening, for at least three months, is to process unfinished products and dismantle equipment. The announcement of the tentative agreement yesterday gave no indication of any change in the company's plan to move its Yonkers operations to branch plants in Philadelphia and Greenville, Miss. The agreement, reached by company and union representatives, is subject to ratification by some 2,500 strikers tonight.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 8, 1954

ALBANY ANNIVERSARY

The year 1776 is celebrated as the year in which the colonies declared their independence of England. Recently representatives of Great Britain, Canada, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland gathered in New York to celebrate the 200th anniversary of another important year in our history, 1754. It was in that year that the Albany Congress was held.

It was called to deal with the menace posed by the Iroquois Indians and the French. The colonists thought that Britain was too distant to meet emergencies and Benjamin Franklin proposed the formation of a central government with a President General appointed by the King and a Grand Council elected by the colonies. British representatives to the conference thought this trespassed on their powers and the idea failed.

Franklin and other colonists did not abandon the idea and twenty years later the experience of the Albany Congress stood the colonists in good stead in the formation of the Continental Congress. Time proved in this case, as in so many others, what a farsighted and accurate prophet Benjamin Franklin really was.

Anyone may post a "Home Sweet Home" banner upon a wall. But it's when the spirit of the words reaches from wall to wall and out onto the front and backyards that these simple syllables gain real meaning.

CONSCIENCE

When George Washington was a lad of 15 he wrote in his copybook: "Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience."

Retail grocers in Cleveland, Ohio, recently reported that they estimate their loss to shoplifters of about $1,000,000 a year. The offenders are mostly women who steal food for their own use but there are some organized gangs who plunder the stores and sell their loot.

One wonders about the women who steal from the grocery stores. Do they quiet their conscience with the thought that they are only stealing "a little"? Are they not aware that dishonesty remains dishonesty no matter how small the theft?

By taking certain steps the store operators will be able to diminish the amount of loss from shoplifters, but what of the thieves, the unfortunate people who have managed to stifle their consciences for the sake of a few cents worth of groceries? Theirs' is the real loss, for a person who does damage to his conscience suffers a loss that cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

The grocers intend to act to detect and apprehend those who have been guilty of the costly thefts. This is as it should be. It might also be a good idea for them to display signs, for the benefit of those who need to be reminded, that the Seventh Commandment says: "Thou shalt not steal."

In eying, then buying slick new summer slacks, men do learn a waistline seldom contracts.

GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY

The danger of communism in Latin America seems to have subsided with the success of the revolution in Guatemala. This does not mean that we can cease to be alert to the threat posed by communism in this hemisphere, however. It simply means that one of their attempts to gain a foothold has been frustrated.

Guatemala should serve as a lesson to the United States. In our concern with building alliances against communism in Europe and in the Orient we have neglected to pay proper attention to our relationships with the countries of Central and South America.

There is considerable anti-American sentiment in some of these countries. A lot of this sentiment is fed by Communist propaganda, some of it by politicians who are not Communists but who see a chance to

OPPENHEIMER AND SECURITY

Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer is one of the most imaginative and highly cultivated minds in this country. The conclusions of the Atomic Energy Commission leave one with a sense of tragedy, for no matter what Oppenheimer's gifts may be, his conduct has been without morality. Even Commissioner Henry DeWolf Smyth who dissented from the opinions of his fellow-commissioners and who defended Oppenheimer had to admit that Oppenheimer lied childishly and was sorry for it. So is Klaus Fuchs sorry for what he did, but that does not help the United States.

Essentially this is a moral question and in a materialistic era, moral questions are often subordinate to the pragmatic. Dr. Smyth clearly indicates this view when he says:

"Since Dr. Oppenheimer is one of the most knowledgeable and lucid physicists we have, his services could be of great value to the country in the future. . . ."

But skill is not good enough when what is involved is national security. A forger is an extremely skillful person but no jury would take that into consideration as a mitigation for a crime. Dr. Oppenheimer is not accused of any crime on the statute books, but his discretion, in a field where indiscretion can be destructive of national existence, is denied and at least one Commissioner, Thomas E. Murray, denies his loyalty.

It is the Murray opinion that interests me most because it deals with the fundamental moral relationship between the citizen and the state. This we often overlook in the general assumption that anything goes in politics, that a man is entitled to a job if he has the qualifications, and that the Government may use any pretext to do what it chooses.

Murray's opinion pursues a philosophy of life, influenced, I find, by the moral concept of Thomas Aquinas. Murray defines loyalty as faithfulness and says:

". . . This faithfulness is a matter of obligation; it is a duty owed. The root of the obligation and duty is the lawfulness of the Government, rationally recognized and freely accepted by the citizens."

The American citizen recognizes that his government, for all its imperfections, is a government under law, of law, by law; therefore is loyal to it. . . ."

He then goes on to say that the advent of the Communist conspiracy has forced upon the American Government the necessity of establishing and emphasizing a security system which in some respects offends the American concepts of private opinion and private action. So, Murray distinguishes between the citizen who accepts responsibilities within the Government and those who do not. He says:

"The American citizen in private life, the man who is not engaged in governmental service, is not bound by the requirements of the security system. However, those American citizens who have the privilege of participating in the operations of government, especially in sensitive agencies, are necessarily subject to this special system of law. Consequently, their faithfulness to a lawful government of the United States, that is to say, their loyalty, must be judged by the standard of their obedience to security regulations. . . ."

I wonder if such a distinction can really be made in a free society. Suppose I were to encounter at a dinner party a blabbing fool employed by the AEC or the CIA who insists on showing off by telling in a mixed and uncertain company all that he knows, including national secrets, let us say, upon which could depend victory or defeat in time of war. According to the rules of gentlemanly conduct, one should not repeat outside what one hears at his host's table.

But am I a free person in that respect? Am I free to be gentlemanly if I even suspect that in this silly blow-hard, name-dropping conversation lies peril to my family, my country, my civilization? If I see fire in somebody else's home, must I not turn in an alarm? Shall I play safe and mind my own business and hope for the best?

These are questions of moral responsibility which some can dodge with ease because they believe that the Eleventh Commandment is the greatest of all, namely, to mind one's own business, or as the Chinese put it, "Never look into your neighbor's pot."

The Oppenheimer Case, so far, does not involve espionage; it does involve security and responsibility and these are questions of essential morality.

That Body of Yours

EASY METHOD OF TAKING DRUGS

Migraine headache, a particularly vicious form of headache, often appearing on one side only and accompanied by nausea and vomiting and other disturbances, attacks large numbers of persons, usually not just once, but at regular or irregular intervals of time. Sometimes it is so severe that the patient must go to bed in a darkened room for days at a time before it goes away. It is particularly likely to affect those who are "perfectionists", who drive themselves, who are overconscientious.

Several years ago Dr. Mary O'Sullivan advocated the use of ergotamine tartrate in the treatment of migraine with great success in many cases. However there are some patients who find that taking drugs by mouth has the disadvantage of increasing the tendency to retching and vomiting. Accordingly we read of an experiment using ergotamine tartrate and caffeine in the form of a rectal suppository in 28 patients with migraine headaches.

Every one of these patients reported that they usually had some sort of warning that an attack was on its way. For instance, 7 had some disturbance of vision, 5 had stomach upsets, 18 were oversensitive to noise, 6 were oversensitive to light, 6 noted stiff neck, 9 noticed more frequent urination, 9 had various emotional upsets. These persons were instructed to insert a suppository of the ergotamine and caffeine preparation at the first signs of an attack. This preparation is called EC 112.

What were the results? One suppository was usually sufficient to control symptoms in an hour!

Lest we become unduly optimistic about this method of taking ergotamine, we must remember that it was known in each of these cases that they responded well to the use of this drug when used in other methods of administration, such as by mouth. However, there are many cases where it is not possible or wise to give the drug by mouth or by injection under the skin or into a vein and in such cases this method of the rectal suppository may be very useful.

In all cases of migraine treatment should include: (1) enough outdoor exercise, (2) a simple, well-balanced diet, and (3) regulation of the bowels so as to produce daily, free movements. (Acknowledgements to Dr. M. Y. Swirsky, Conneaut Medical Journal).

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington, NEA — Skipper Humphrey, 12-year-old son of Sen. Hubert Humphrey D. Minn.), has just averted embarrassing his father politically and getting himself in trouble with the antitrust division for establishing a combination in restraint of trade.

Skipper and two of his pals, Joe and Hope Liebersohn, publish a weekly paper, The Coquelin (street) News, which sells for one cent a copy. Small ads cost two cents and larger ones three cents. Some time ago the News made an agreement with one of its competitors, the Coquelin Sun, dividing up their neighborhood, promising not to raid each other's territory.

An editorial in the Coquelin News has now disclosed that the Sun just broke their agreement by getting subscribers in our area. By that example you can tell what kind of management they have. . . . Some of their news are very old. One news item appeared in the Coquelin News four papers ago. In fact most of their news items wouldn't be considered newsworthy in the Coquelin News. And the way a lot of their items are worded, they sound like the partisans way of talking. This editorial is just the way the staff feels."

Fortunately, the Coquelin Sun is suspending operations for the summer season. This will make prosecution for operating a cartel impossible, and Senator Humphrey won't be accused of fostering monopolies during that subject, and I felt it my duty to maintain it."

A tapped diplomatic grapevine from Geneva records one reverse-English apocryphal story that went around there as the great peace conference blew up.

It concerns the return of Russian Foreign Minister Molotov to Moscow. Talking to Premier Malenkov, Molotov, reported to the latest European appraisals of the Army-McCarthy hearings in Washington.

The premier is then supposed to have observed: "About this Amerikanik McCarthy, I don't like his objectives. But I admire his methods."

The great hassle in Congress over whether to change the atomic energy law to make the chairman the principal officer of the Atomic Energy Commission, instead of just another member, puts the present chairman, Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, in a peculiar position. If the law were changed, he would become this principal officer. Three other members of the commission have strongly opposed any such shift of power.

Five years ago, when he was just one of the five members of the AEC, Admiral Strauss may have had different views on this subject. Testifying before the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, during the isotopic export investigation, Admiral Strauss then said in explanation of his disagreements with other members of the commission:

"It was the occasion of a good deal of grief to me, but I feel and I think they understood that I believed and they believed that the function of a five-man commission as opposed to, let us say, the idea of a single administrator, was the idea of the Congress in obtaining divergent points of view. I felt strongly on that subject, and I felt it my duty to maintain it."

The commission, which previously had designated the national and state Communist parties as subversive, added seven more names to the list yesterday.

Under the State's Security Risk Law, membership in any of the nine would disqualify a person from holding a state job.

The seven named yesterday by commission President M. Taylor are:

The Communist Political Assn., its subdivisions, subsidiaries and affiliates; the Independent Socialist League; the Industrial Workers of the World; the Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico; the Socialist Workers party; the Workers party, and the Young Communist League.

McCarthy has been ordered to have their illnesses during vacation periods, so that recreation and resort centers could be used to contribute more to Czechoslovakia's economy.

Czech workers have been organizing to have their illnesses during vacation periods, so that recreation and resort centers could be used to contribute more to Czechoslovakia's economy.

Three Communist leaders in Gulabovo, Bulgaria, angry at a village priest, shaved off his orthodox beard.

The villagers were so incensed at this indignity they forced the "People's Council" to expel the officials and deprive them of their civil liberties.

The crime they were accused of was "hooliganism," a capitalistic offense.

Today in WashingtonAdmittance of Red China Is No Longer Domestic Issue in Court of Opinion

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 8—President Eisenhower has undertaken to make certain that quarrels were composed through a decent respect for justice and fairness and right, and to see whether we couldn't avoid resort to force.

"Now today we have Red China going to Geneva, and instead of taking a conciliatory attitude toward anything, it excommunicated the United Nations. As a matter of fact, in Geneva, it demanded repudiation of the United Nations position. On top of that Red China is today at war with the United Nations. They were declared an aggressor by the United Nations in the Assembly and that situation has never been changed.

"They are occupying North Korea. They have supported this great effort at further enslavement of the peoples of Indo-China. They have held certain of our prisoners unjustifiably, and they have been guilty of the worst possible diplomatic deportment in the international affairs of the world.

"Now how can the United States, as a self-respecting nation, doing its best and in conformity with the moral standards as we understand them, how can we possibly say this government should be admitted to the United Nations?"

Thus Mr. Eisenhower answers the critics abroad who have brushed aside all moral considerations. The London Times, for instance, has said that it is a question of law and "not of morals."

The issue, moreover, isn't one of diplomatic recognition. Many governments which are members of the United Nations have already extended diplomatic recognition to the Red Chinese Communist government, but now oppose its admission to the United Nations on the ground that the Peiping regime is an aggressor and has not purged itself of aggression.

The President's forthright statement will ring around the world and will place the issue on the high moral plane where Americans have placed it before, only to have Europeans, influenced by expediency, try to rationalize an acceptance of the Communist regime in Peiping despite the record of dead and wounded for which the aggressor government is entirely responsible. Certainly, the fathers and mothers of the 40,000 American dead and 100,000 American wounded would never understand acceptance of the aggressor government as worthy of admission to an international organization designed to be the principal vehicle for the exercise of moral force in the world.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 7—Some of Senator Joe McCarthy's angriest accusers have damned him as a low character and a Fascist Beast because of his "background." McCarthy's "background" includes his college education at Marquette University in Milwaukee. This institution is run by the priests of the Society of Jesus, otherwise known as Jesuits, a learned order whose members import education in an atmosphere of piety. They are not invariably fastidious, sometimes descending to earthy terms to illustrate a moral or other important point to students.

McCarthy has been held forth by some of his friends and all his enemies as an uncouth fellow. That is a matter of standards and comparison. I would never rate him as low as Franklin D. Roosevelt or Harry S. Truman, who had conspicuous moments of swinishness, although Roosevelt's groveling idolators would insist that his resort to nasty language was a manifestation of his great "democracy," which is their word for condescension.

'Destruction' of Plattekill Creek

A group of citizens of the town of Saugerties have written an open letter to Mayor George Holmes of Saugerties opposing the proposed drying up of Plattekill creek to augment the village's water supply.

They propose instead the construction of an artesian well which "would solve the village's present and future water problems, including its commitments to Glasco."

They point out that the creek would be inadequate for future water needs of the village and wells would have to be sunk any way. They deplored also the drying up of a stream noted throughout the county and state for its beauty.

30 Men Grilled
In Girl's Death

Miami, Fla., July 8 (AP)—Moving swiftly to crack the brutal kidnap-murder of little Judith Ann Roberts, 7, homicide detectives grilled more than 30 men and today still held seven for further questioning.

Lt. Chester Eldredge, head of the Homocide Bureau, said however that his men were without a "definite" suspect.

The police dragnet still had about 40 men listed for rounding up and questioning, all known sex perverts and child molesters. The body of blue-eyed Judith Ann, was savagely beaten and ravished when found yesterday a few blocks from Miami's city hall at Dinner Key.

"We will work around the clock until this vicious killer is in jail," said Eldredge.

Varied on Case

Newark, N. J., July 8 (AP)—Republican county chairmen are divided in their views on what effect Clifford P. Case's announced opposition to the tactics of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will have on the GOP Senate candidates' election chances.

Case issued a statement yesterday in which he said that if he is elected he would vote to bar McCarthy from the chairmanship and membership of the committee on government operations and similar committees. Judge Al-

Arthur G. Carr of Carr and Son, funeral directors, who was in charge of burial of the Clinton remains, recalled today that "it rained as it never had before or since. Everybody got soaked."

The casket was lowered into a crypt beneath the monument where it was "sealed in concrete."

He recalls that there was a grandstand and "several military companies." Judge Al-phonos T. Clearwater was the "prime mover." Carr believes that a man named Benjamin Brink of Kingston went to Washington, D. C., to make arrangements for disinterment of the remains and shipping.

Asked if he could recall any other pertinent and interesting details of the event, Carr thought a moment before replying in the negative.

Of Kingston, Coady said all they knew was "it was a city of cigar makers." It was Coady's first trip to Kingston—and his last until he was assigned to Hilbrant's in 1952.

around the hall and all men are requested to bring their tools to assist with this work. A regular meeting will follow the supper.

Lake Katrine
There will be a covered dish supper for members and families at Lake Katrine Grange Monday night, July 12, at the Grange Hall. All are requested to bring a covered dish or dessert, their silver and dishes. The committee for the month will be Myron Boice, Mr. Hubert Sk, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Percy Snyder, Mrs. Florence Ennist, Mr. and Mrs. William Kruger, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Sande, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schuler, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wille and Mrs. Laura. Preceding the supper, there will be the usual yearly work in the grounds.

Mention was made by Nelson Snyder, who is in charge of the auction to be held in October that the contents of a nine-room house were being given to the Grange for this purpose excepting necessary furniture, etc., to furnish a three-room home. A small house organ was another article promised. All members were requested to keep in mind this coming event and to save articles for it. They are to advise the committee of what they have to contribute. The rummage sale, sponsored by Mrs. Tracy Munson and Mrs. Ralph Hommel, to be held in October was brought to the members' attention. These events are to be held specifically to help defray the heavy expenses involved in the installation by the Grange of a new heating system and other improvements to the hall.

First Band Leader

Capt. William J. Stannard was the first leader of the United States Army band, being appointed by General Pershing in 1923, after competitive tests for his position.

Natives Outnumber Others

Albany, July 8 (AP)—Native New Yorkers outnumber persons who have moved into the state by about two to one. The Commerce Department reported yesterday that the latest federal census—taken in 1950—showed that persons born in New York state comprised 66 per cent of the state's population. Of the remaining 34 per cent, the department said, 17 per cent were born in foreign countries, 13 per cent elsewhere in the United States and the rest in territories or possessions of the United States or to American parents abroad.

Rector Denies He Ever Was Member

New York, July 8 (AP)—The Rev. William Howard Melish, contradicting testimony of a former Red, swears he never was a Communist or a member of the Communist Party.

The Rev. Mr. Melish, acting minister of Brooklyn's Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church, denied under oath yesterday that the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship—which he headed from 1946 to 1949—was dominated or financed by the Communists.

He told a hearing of the Federal Supervisory Activities Control Board that "the activities of the council are directed solely in the best interests of the United States."

The U. S. attorney general's office contends the council should register as a Communist front. The board has been asked to declare it such.

The Rev. Mr. Melish, still a member of the council's national board, contradicted testimony by Louis Budenz, who had testified before the board that he knew the clergyman as a Communist and helped the minister become chairman of the council.

Budenz renounced Communism and returned to the Roman Catholic Church.

The Rev. Mr. Melish told of writing two articles which appeared in 1944 issues of the Sunday Worker at the behest of Budenz, but denied telling Budenz he was a Communist. "I did not, I could not have done so," clergyman said.

Mountains to Sea

Svartisen glacier, in northern Norway, is Europe's only glacier that reaches from the mountain heights directly to the sea. Its name means "black ice," but its color actually appears as deep blue.

Fined for Voting

Susan B. Anthony was fined $100 for voting in the 1872 U. S. presidential election, a half century before women won the right to vote, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

R. A. Botta Dies

Nassau, Bahamas, July 8 (AP)—Robert Anthony Botta, 39, of Baltimore manager of the new $3,000,000 Emerald Beach Hotel scheduled to open here July 19, died in the Bahamas General Hospital yesterday. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Tuesday during a conference in the hotel. The Emerald Beach, owned by British interests, has been leased to Leo Corrigan, operator of a hotel chain in the United States. Botta previously managed the Montauk Manor at Montauk, N. Y. Funeral services will be held at St. Francis Xavier's Roman Catholic Church here today, followed by burial in the Catholic Cemetery.

Mrs. Charlotte Major

The funeral of Mrs. Charlotte Major was held Wednesday afternoon from the F. Daniel Halloran Funeral Home, 88 West Chester street, with the Rev. Forrest R. Prindle of the Reformed Church of the Comforter officiating. Many friends and relatives attended. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, Stone Ridge, where the Rev. Mr. Prindle conducted the committal service.

James R. Sutphin

James R. Sutphin, 77, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Preston Bennett of North Mannheim Boulevard, New Paltz. He was a retired grain weigher, employed for many years by the state of Minnesota. He was born in Minneapolis, Minn. Surviving are his widow, the former Viola Munsey; a daughter, Mrs. Bennett; and two grandchildren. Friends may call at the Pine Funeral Home, New Paltz, this evening. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Welander-Quist Funeral Home, 1200 Broadway, Minneapolis, Minn. Burial will be in Lakewood Cemetery, Minneapolis.

Mrs. Minnie E. W. Miller

The funeral of Mrs. Minnie E. Weston Miller, wife of Chester A. Miller, Sr., who died July 5, was held at the A. Carr and Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl street, Wednesday afternoon. The services were well attended and there were many beautiful flowers. During the services Chester A. Miller, Jr., sang Abide With Me. Services were conducted by the Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, of which she was a member. Tuesday evening many friends called to pay their respects, as did trustees and members of the Couples Club of the church, who held a prayer service in the parlors led by the Rev. Mr. McVey. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Sherman John Short

Sherman John Short of 98 Miller's Lane died early this morning at his home. He had been a resident of Kingston for many years and was a well-known automobile mechanic and garage operator. With his son, Donald B. Short, he operated Short's Triangle Shell station. Mr. Short was a member of the Fair Street Reformed Church and Charles DeWitt Council, JOUAM. Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Elsie Short; his wife, Emma Short; a daughter, Mrs. Michael Marchuk, and a son, Donald B. Short, also two grandchildren, all of this city. Friends

Memorial

In loving memory of Corporal Joseph F. Norton who was killed in Korea July 8, 1953.

His smiling way and pleasant face

Are a pleasure to recall;

He had a kindly word for each

And was loved by all.

Some day we hope to meet him,

Some day, we know not when,

To clasp his hand in the better land

Never to part again.

Signed,

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 8 (AP)—The stock market drifted lower in the early afternoon today on diminishing volume.

Losses were almost all small, but a few issues fell much more. Gain went to around a point at the best.

Trader interest waned as prices slipped, and volume was at a rate of around two million shares for the day. Yesterday's total was 2,380,000 shares in a mixed market.

The start was mixed, and then prices gradually receded. The aircrafts leaped ahead and subsided in later trading into a mixed pattern. All major divisions were mixed to lower.

Dropping away were such issues as Republic Steel, Consolidated Natural Gas, New York Central, Standard Oil (N. J.), U. S. Gypsum, General Motors, Boeing Radio Corp., Union Carbide, General Electric, Liggett & Myers, and United Fruits.

Delinquency, No Matter Where, Is Up to Parents

By EARL HOFELDT
Monterey Peninsula Herald
Reporter

Monterey, Calif., July 8 (AP)—Another day I talked with a high school freshman whose parents are members of the late ar and elbow bending society. I asked: "Do you think I'll be a delinquent?"

"Well," he responded, "I've got a right background."

As everywhere else, the causes of delinquency lie mainly with parents who know this, as the lad alighted with indicated clearly.

Monterey is an unusual area, some ways. This city, and Carmel, both on the coast, are areas of expensive homes.

Monterey's population is put at 20,000. Carmel's 8,000.

and rural King City, primarily agricultural, with 2,600 residents in the city limits.

Worst Riot Occurred

Yet it was here that the peninsula's worst riot occurred one night last summer. It stemmed from a dispute over whether a group of Mexican or Swiss-Italians had primary rights "drag"—as they call it—the main street in their souped up cars. Sixteen Mexicans and 31 Swiss-Italians met in a vacant lot. When it was over, one of the latter was dying of a knife wound, two others were seriously hurt. Police rounded up every youth, lectured each of them and their parents on their responsibilities. Since then, not one of the boys has been back in court.

The peninsula's over-all rate of juvenile delinquency is slightly under California's state average, well below the big metropolitan areas.

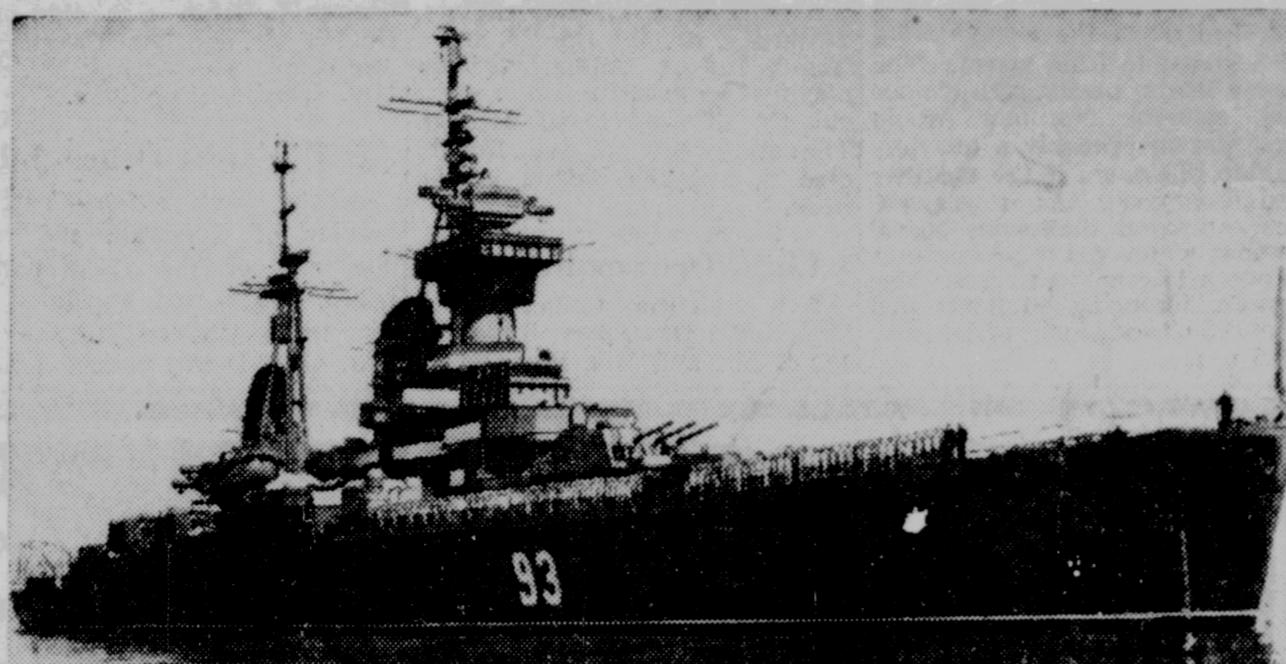

But it's climbing steadily, particularly on car thefts and burglaries.

Other Problems Also

Sophisticated Carmel has had other problems, too.

Police Chief Clyde Klaumann had to warn parents they could serve their own children drinks in their own homes—but not in other people's children or we'll have you charged with contributing." Easter "hell week" in this resort town was long a problem, with an influx of youngsters from other cities to this resort area. They were destructive, insulting, defiant.

Klaumann's men started picking them up and writing letters to their parents and it has helped keep the kids in line. They were tough just so long as mama didn't know.

JUST CRUISING ALONG—The crew of the Soviet cruiser Admiral Nakhimov assembles on the deck of the warship during full-dress ceremonies somewhere in Russian waters. The cruiser is named after the admiral who won fame during the Crimean War. (Picture and caption material from an official Soviet source.)

Klaumann firmly believes that the parent should be linked—through moral and legal responsibility—to the acts of his child.

Taken to Headquarters

When a boy is picked up after Carmel's strict 10:30 p. m. curfew, for example, he is taken to police headquarters and his parents phoned. They are told they must come and take their child home.

Perhaps Pop has to roll out of bed to come and get Junior. Perhaps the police call break up a party. Whatever the case, the parents have been inconvenienced. Thus their responsibility is brought home with emphasis.

"We don't want to send youngsters to court unless they're absolutely hopeless or if they're three-time offenders," says Klaumann.

"Usually, by maintaining a close link between the youngster and the parents, we can work out the problem right here. This works to everyone's benefit. The youngster is not placed in official custody and no jail record is written up against him."

No one, with the exception of the parent, is in a better position to curb juvenile delinquency than the school teacher. In many cases the teacher actually is closer to the child's problems than the parent.

Schools Have Responsibility

"The big problem with the so-called pre-delinquent should be solved in grade school or in junior high school," says Carl McDonald, principal of Monterey High School.

"By the time they are ready to enter high school they generally have either straightened out or quit school."

County Juvenile Probation Officer J. C. Kelly says that schools in Monterey county are proving effective in preventing racial flareups. He says for instance, that gang rivalries might exist between youngsters from Seaside and Monterey if pupils from the two areas did not blend in Fremont Junior High School.

In junior high children from the two communities get to know each other when they are

Monterey's Program

Youth authorities and police lay the problem at the feet of parents. Here's the program of Monterey Police Chief Charles E. Simpson for building sound parent-child relationships:

1. Start working with your youngster when he's very young, from the time he's able to walk.

2. Be a real friend to your child. Talk his language. Be wise to modern slang. Thirty years ago you said, "hot ziggity." Today your son says, "real George."

3. Build trust. Don't deceive your child. Don't lie to him.

4. Build faith. Don't let your youngster catch you boasting of some wealth or what you got away with some crooked deal you put over successfully.

5. Get out and play with your child. Play catch. Boot a football. Take hikes.

6. Make your youngster conscious of spiritual things, of the great unknown.

London, July 8 (AP)—Humble John Nevin, whose tiny dwelling made some of the stately homes of England look like poorly furnished barns, drew three years in prison yesterday for looting a museum of 2,000 exhibits.

Mevin, 58, had been a trusted porter at the Victoria and Albert Museum since 1930. He made 9 pounds ($25.20) a week.

In suburban Chiswick he and his wife, Mary, lived in an outwardly modest four-room house which rented for 25 shillings ($3.50) a week.

But the interior, police witnesses said yesterday, was opulent beyond belief.

A beautiful piece of old Flemish tapestry was used as a bedspread. The window curtains were made of exquisite lace. The carpets and rugs were princely products of the looms of Persia and India. The tables were rare antiques. Objects of art, jewelry, glassware and pottery stood on every shelf and in every corner.

And in Garbage Can

A garbage can held 21 jeweled sword hilts and a jade figurine.

And when 34-year-old Mrs. Nevin washed the dishes, her apron was a piece of 18th century tapestry.

Detectives said Nevin had piled his treasure trove over a period of 20 years by carrying pieces home from work under his clothing. He took the antique tables apart, smuggled out the legs and tops separately and then put them together again.

Museum officials discovered the thefts during a recent inventory of their exhibits, which number about one million. They put a nominal value of 3,500 pounds ($9,800) on Nevin's loot, but said much of it was priceless and irreplaceable.

Shokan

Shokan, July 8—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rogers and children of Massapequa, L.I., were callers in the village center Saturday.

Berndt Larsson, Olive Bridge property owner and an employee of the Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, office of the Lincoln Bank, has a patriotic poem titled 'Our Land' in the June issue of the bank's staff paper. Larsson, a member of the Swedish Gymnastics and Swedish American clubs, is a native of Helsingborg and has represented Sweden in two international gymnastic competitions. His hobbies include painting, poetry and music.

The Shokan post office will remain open during the noon hour each weekday until Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Monaco, former residents of Shokan, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Monaco of Brooklyn, spent the holiday at the Monaco family bungalow in the Van Steenberg Lane sector.

daken. The bushes, hosts to the rust which ravages pine trees, are fairly numerous in the mountains and hollows of the neighboring township's rugged terrain.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald North of Schenectady spent the weekend at the Justus North home. He is a former Shokan resident and KHS student.

Callers in the hub of the reservoir country Monday included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Burgess of Pensacola, Fla., who were spending a few days at Phenicia in the course of a vacation motor trip of several weeks. They plan to tour New England before returning to Florida. Mrs. Burgess, as Bessie Wands, resided in the Sand Hill neighborhood of Shokan. She is a sister of Mrs. Cornell Longyear of Albuquerque and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt C. Davis who lived here in years before the waterworks.

Lions Had Big Time

New York, July 8 (AP)—The Lions had a whale of a time yesterday during their 5th avenue parade—despite downpour and drizzle which sent thousands of spectators running for cover. Some 15,000 members of the International Service Club put on a spectacular show as they marched down the avenue from 95th street to 62nd street. The clever floats, pretty girls, bands and colorful costumes would have drawn probably a quarter-million onlookers if the weather had been good. As it was, police estimated that some 50,000 persons watched the proceedings between intermittent rains. The parade, featuring 40 floats and about 50 bands, got under way at 5 p.m.

Discovery Is Fatal

New York, July 8 (AP)—Ronald Stewart, 10, and his twin brother, Donald, found two automatic pistols, a .22 and .32, in the apartment of their grandmother, Mrs. Cora Scott, six months ago. Police said the guns belonged to an uncle, who has been in a hospital. The boys carefully hid the guns in a kitchen cabinet. Yesterday, Ronald, Donald, and a friend, Robert Bolton, 8, were playing together. Ronald brought out the .32 and toyed with it. The gun went off and Ronald died of a bullet wound in the neck.

Child Drowns in Lake

New Fairfield, Conn., July 8 (AP)—Robin Davenport, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davenport of (62 Birchwood Lane) Scarsdale, N.Y., drowned in Lake Candlewood yesterday while visiting with her aunt and uncle in the Candlewood Isle section. The girl was found face down in 2½ feet of water near a dock. The child was last seen of the relatives' home, about 100 feet from the lake. She was dressed in play clothes. State police said Robin was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Davenport. The couple was visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Krug here.

Lake's Discovery Was Exciting Day For A. H. Smiley

(This is the second in a series of three articles on The Lake Mohonk Mountain House near New Paltz, the story of a dream and a family. In his article the founding and early history of this remarkable "house" is described.)

By JOHN A. CRAWFORD, JR.

At Lake Mohonk through eons of geologic time the Shawangunk ridges, which lie between the Hudson river in east and the Catskill Mountains, have reared their huge stone cliffs from lush valleys—and the serene silence of the magic lake has received the soaring heavens upon its bosom.

Here, in the inaccessible forests, cliffs and caves, the Iroquois, Lenapes and Delaware often sought shelter during their frequently-renewed tribal conflicts—and here, on a warm sunny day in the early summer of 1869 Alfred H. Smiley of Poughkeepsie, a wise conservative man of great business sense, first gazed upon its breath-taking beauty, discovered ing in its serenity, soaring cliffs and panoramic vistas of mountains and valleys, a sudden, penetrating vision.

Writes to Brother

He wrote excitedly to his twin brother, Albert, then in his early forties, graduate of Haverford College, Philadelphia, Pa.—"a teacher by both training and taste"—who for nine years had headed the Friends School at Providence, R. I.

Albert must leave everything, the letter urged. He must come immediately. The first appeal apparently failed to move Albert to action but a second epistle brought response from the genial, cultured gentleman sitting thoughtfully in his Providence study.

Together they visited the lake,

No report remains to indicate the effect upon the studious, idealistic Albert, a man of unusual sensitivity, imagination and spirit, but we can judge by ensuing events how seriously he was smitten.

Negotiations commenced immediately for purchase of the lake and land from one, John F. Stokes, a well-to-do Wallkill Valley farmer, who wanted $40,000. The price paid was $28,000. Albert had this to say about the purchase: "I spent every dollar I had and ran in debt fourteen thousand dollars.

An American Dream

The transaction, consisting of approximately 280 acres, marked the beginning of one of the great American dreams—a dream, not of profits, but of earthly paradise, moral force, the rights of minorities and ideals of world peace—the dream of a man dipping into the future to "see a vision of the world and all the wonder that will be."

In The Story of Mohonk, published in 1911, Frederick E. Partington wrote that there was already a "small, rude structure" at the lake, built by Mr. Stokes for the entertainment of picnickers and "for those who were courageous, could offer lodgings."

There was a barroom and a room for dancing and people came up from the valley and danced all night for which they paid a dollar a couple. "This man, and an old lady and an Irish boy, ran the establishment. He sold liquor also though he tried to keep folks from drinking too much. When people really got drunk and hard to manage, Mr. Stokes used to chain them to trees and in that way maintained order."

Distinguished by Spirit

Partington wrote that it was the "spirit of the place that ultimately distinguishes it from all others. Its well-known silent code relating to the common nuisances of liquor, dancing, cardplaying and Sabbath breaking gave it a certain eminence from the start. The truth about these rules is that Mr. Smiley never made any rules. He never, in fact, had any intention of conducting a hotel; at least, of conducting one on conventional plans. His guests were, at first, nearly all of them personal friends. They came very much as they would have come to his private home. It proved to most of them a refreshing delight to find one place in the land free from the despotic sway of a bar, of noisy dancing and bad music, of monopolizing card parties, and of a Sunday that differed from no other day. Some of them used to remark that it had the restful isolation of an ocean voyage..."

"It was perhaps noticeably free from the ultra-fashionable, mercerized or newspaper society, and has always remained so. Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler, who came to Mohonk first in 1879, describes his immediate meeting with many prominent people. He found here the nieces of Wash-

DOUBLE DUTY—Here's a boat that is just as much at home on land as on water. The swamp vehicle was designed by an oil company in Tulsa, Okla., to carry seismograph equipment through the swamps and mud flats of Venezuela. It is said to be able to cruise in 20 feet of water.

ington Irving; he met for the first time the merchant philanthropist, William E. Dodge; Arnold Guyot, the distinguished scientist—for whom Guyot's Hill is named; Philip Schaff, the tireless scholar, editor, friend of all the world's great thinkers. He records his meeting here with Mrs. Grant, wife of the soldier President; with President Hayes—and Roosevelt and Warren; with Edward Everett Hale, Justices Brewer and Strong, Senator Dawes and many, many more. For nearly thirty consecutive summers Dr. Cuyler himself lent to the sparkling intellectual life of Mohonk no small measure.

Moral Citadel

Partington wrote that it was little wonder Mohonk should have grown "to be a sort of citadel" to the army of guests who had visited the Mountain House up to that time. "The story of Mohonk then, becomes obviously no simple chronicle of a mountain resort—the annals of a pleasant community of summer guests. Its material success, however amazing, has created only the setting for movements that have long since been justified and which, affecting the honor and welfare of the country, have also done much to foster new ideals of human obligations, and to inspire new hopes for the intercourse of men."

Outstanding thinkers and leaders in many fields participated in the conferences on Indian affairs and international arbitration, commencing in the last quarter of the 19th century, traded ideas and organized their thinking more precisely on burning issues of that time. The conferences were continued until 1918 when they were interrupted by the conditions resulting from the war and it was no longer possible to gather together the representative men and women necessary to carry on the work.

Precise effect of the conferences would be difficult to assay. The influence of the Indian conference in meliorating the condition of the American aborigines by prickling the conscience of the American people and their political representatives is perhaps more clearly visible than the effect of the conferences on international arbitration. However there seems little doubt that the conferences on international arbitration exercised a definite influence on the climate of thinking about problems of

Do You Remember
By SOPHIE MILLER

I think for years I seemed to have said, there is one thing they can never take away from our Rondout, and that is the Rondout Creek, and of course, the Hudson river into which it runs. No matter what every one says, nor how many commercial houses take off for the upper part of the town, as long as we Rondouters have our creek folks from all over will have need of it every so often. Came the navy destroyers last weekend and it docked off of Hashbrook avenue, between the spot the little old Skillypot used to run and the ferry now runs. Next to it was the big commercial barge on the stone business. The weather was hot and perfect for swimming. Kingston, being the gateway to the Catskills, yet not having an outdoor pool with its 100 miles of streets, those youngsters who can swim over their head were right down by those boats having a grand time. They were in and out the water all day long. The ferry was doing an old-time business Sunday, June 27. Folks from all over with their children and wives entwined were down to see the two exhibition boats. Everyone who owned a motorboat, a rowboat, or a rowboat plus an outboard motor scouted all over the creek to see and be seen. I notice most dining places along the Rondout Creek are making provisions for that new business of "own your own boat." They have terraces with tables and chairs and out-door service, so it seems like Cedar Rest. There is a float and steps so that these "Sunday boaters" can dock and walk up to the out-door terrace. Most of these places are on the Kingston side, so can best be seen from the Sleighsburgh side of the creek.

One of the most famous events to take place on our waterways that perhaps many folks remember was the Hudson-Fulton celebration of 1909. At the time, at considerable expense a replica was made both of the Half Moon and the Clermont. One of the finest write-ups on "Some replicas of Historic Ships" by Alexander Crosby Brown can be found in the April 1954 American Neptune quarterly Journal of Maritime History (published in Salem, Mass.) which contains much on the above ships. Donald C. Ringwald of Kingston brought the copy to show me and now I have sent for one of my own. It seems Mr. Ringwald sent in parts of my column from The Kingston Daily Freeman dated Feb. 26, 1954 on the question as to where the machinery went, as the Clermont II could navigate on her own steam power. According to information of 1909 and later, Clermont II belonged to the people of New York state, and this replica was given to the Hudson River Day Line on condition that she "keep it in repair," and even in running order in case needed for naval exhibitions. In The Kingston Daily Freeman of June 25, 1936, it was said that the engine was purchased by Henry Ford's Museum at Dearborn. According to Hayward S. Ablewhite's late report, as chief curator of the Dearborn Museum, dated March 12, 1953 he wrote in part, "We are very sorry to inform you that we do not have the replica of the Clermont."

Abducted Women
The Sabines were one of the aboriginal Italian races who lived in the mountains near Rome. According to legend, their women were carried off by the Romans, among whom the male sex predominated.

Rarest Coin
Rarest of all United States one-cent pieces is that of 1799. One in uncirculated condition is known and this was discovered in a London pawnshop years ago. Until then, no 1799 cent in mint condition was believed existant.

Mr. Ringwald, a careful naval historian in his own right and native of Kingston, writes in the "American Neptune" article: "Clermont's hull was too far gone to attempt to move, wood.

MODENA NEWS

Modena, July 8—The annual school meeting of the Central School District 1 of the Towns Shawangunk, Plattekill and Gardiner in Ulster County, Newburgh and Montgomery in Orange county, will be held Tuesday, July 13, at 8 p.m., at the Wallkill School. Qualified voters will elect a member of the Board of Education for a period of five years to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of Charles E. Terwilliger of Wallkill. A resolution also will be voted on concerning the authorization of all funds in the Capital Reserve Fund for the purpose of providing additional classrooms in Wallkill and Plattekill.

Billy Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Adams who recently recovered from an illness, reported to be ill again.

Airmen Gordon S. Pink arrived here from Texas last week and is spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Pink. At the conclusion of his leave he will be transferred to Arizona.

Mrs. Tony Mouzithras entertained a number of visitors at her home Friday afternoon.

Pat Adams has completed his studies in the Modena school and received the annual award of the Plattekill Lions Club, a pen and pencil set, for having the highest average in his class, at plans to enter the Wallkill Central School at the commencement of the fall term.

Many local people attended the Round Up Time in Highland last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dimitrius Xenakis, Mr. and Mrs. John Xenakis and children of New York were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Mouzithras.

The Rev. Frederick Imhoff and daughter, Sarah Ann, who have been making their home with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Crane, here left recently for Saugerties.

The Rev. John E. Swords attended men's breakfast, in honor of the Rev. John Van Strien at the hall of the Reformed Church in Gardiner Sunday day. Approximately 50 attended. The Rev. Mr. Van Strien is returning from the ministry after 40 years of service.

Among those taking part in the musical program at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Gruman Wednesday night were Richard Piepolo, Marly Hoberg, Mildred Gazzaro, Richard Nease, Lydia Ann Harries, Wayne G. Smith, Eleanor Gruman, Monte C. Smith, Kathleen I. Wager and Daniel Pelow.

Edward Siemasko of East Meadow, L.I. is a nephew of Miss Glennie Wager, who is the author of a current article appearing in Top Trotter Magazine, a periodical dedicated to harness racing.

Two vacation Bible schools are underway in the parish. At Clintondale a recreation program is offered by the two churches, for children from the first to sixth grade, from July 6 to 16. The teachers are Rev. and Mrs. Mark Peery, Mrs. Betty Hurd, Evelyn Conklin, Shirley Morse, and the Rev. John E. Swords. The daily program begins at 9 a.m. At Modena, pre-school children and children up to the seventh grade are enrolled in a program under the theme Our Church. The daily schedule begins at 9 a.m. and ends at 10:45 for the younger group, and 11:45 for the older children. Teachers are Mrs. Alison Swords, Mrs. Mabell Black, Eleanor Gruman and Gail Grimm. A picnic is planned for Friday, July 16, at 10 a.m. and a concluding Children's Day program Sunday, July 18, during the hour of worship at 11:45.

The first game in the Youth Fellowship Softball League will be played between Modena and Clintondale at Clintondale Friday, July 9, at 7 p.m.

On Friday, July 9, the Clintondale Official Board will meet at the church at 6:30 p.m. for a fellowship supper and regular business meeting. A tape recording will be presented of the speech made by Charles C. Parlin made at a ministerial meeting some time ago. Mr. Parlin was the counsel of Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam during the hearing before the Veale Committee.

Next Sunday, July 11, the annual church family picnic will be held at Mid-Way Park, near Benton's Corners. Cars will leave Clintondale at 10 a.m. and Modena at 10:15. A worship service will be conducted at 11 a.m. The meal will be covered dish style with beverages furnished by a committee. The afternoon will be devoted to recreational games of softball, horseshoes, swimming and boating. In case of rain, the services will be held in the Modena Church and the fellowship meal in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall.

The Rev. John E. Swords' vacation period is July 25 to August 12. The guest preacher during those Sundays will be Dr. James A. Brimelow of Clintondale. Dr. Brimelow will deliver a sermon Sunday, July 25, on the subject A Faith for Today; Sunday, Aug. 1, The Cloud With a Golden Fringe; Sunday, Aug. 8, What Makes True Greatness. Dr. Brimelow will preach during the usual hours of worship at Clintondale, 9:45, and at Modena 11:45. He will be available for any pastoral assistance during the pastor's absence.

The Clintondale Church fair and supper will be held Thursday night, July 22, at the Grange Hall. The fair will open at 3 p.m. The supper will be served at 6:30.

Tillson

Tillson, July 8—The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Tillson Reformed Church will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. at the church hall. Hostesses will be Mrs. Anthony Guerrera and Mrs. Charles DeWitt.

Miss Linda Young of New York is spending some time with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Urbells.

Eric Winkley of Horseheads is visiting relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Phillips and daughter, Sandra, will spend two weeks at the 4H Club summer camp where the Phillips are counselors.

A party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Harvey Saturday night. Following an outdoor picnic supper, square dancing was enjoyed. Those attending included Mr. and Mrs. Roy Van Keuren, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Born, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hoffman, Jr., Rodney Conklin and Miss Patricia Hoffman.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Born entertained at home Sunday night with an outdoor corn roast. Those attending included Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hoffman, Jr., Miss Patricia Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Harvey and daughter, Marilyn, Rodney Conklin and William Braun.

Marbletown Recreation

Registration for the summer recreation program will be held at the Marbletown Central School, Friday, July 9, from 10-12 a.m. for the 7-12 year age group; from 2-4 p.m. for the 13-18 year age group. At this time a vote will be held among the children and the most popular activities will be chosen for the program which will start Monday, July 12. Any child of the above age groups in the town of Marbletown is eligible to attend part or all of the session. The only requirement is that the parent provide the transportation of the child to and from the school. The program will be under the direction of Lawrence Savercool, a member of the MCS faculty.

Desmond Makes Complaint

Albany, July 8 (AP)—A state senator today complained that motorists on the thruway "are limited to high-priced restaurants" and demanded that free picnic spots be provided. Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, veteran Newburgh Republican, said he would introduce bills at the next session of the Legislature to require the Thruway Authority and Public Works Department to build at least one such rest area for every 30 miles of new roads. "Not everyone can afford a 20-cent hot dog or $3 dinner," Desmond said in a statement. The thruway is meant for the Ford and Chevrolet family trade as well as for the Cadillac motorists and salesmen on expense accounts."

Bride in Saugerties Ceremony

Miss Hillson Weds
Curtis G. Crom in Syracuse Church

Miss Antoinette Louise Hillson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hillson of 12 Linderman avenue, became the bride of Curtis G. Crom, son of Col. and Mrs. William H. Crom of 4042 Seminary road, Alexandria, Va., Saturday, June 19, at Grace Episcopal Church, Syracuse. The Rev. W. W. Kornack, chaplain of Syracuse University, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and altar flowers. The bride was given in marriage by her father, George E. Hillson. She wore a waltz length gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The gown had a lace and tulle bodice over which the bride wore a long shirred lace jacket with Peter Pan collar. The bouffant skirt was styled of lace peplum over a full underskirt of nylon tulle. She carried a prayer book with white orchids and wore a headpiece of elbow length nylon tulle.

Miss Joyce Mundy of Newark, N. J., was maid of honor. Best man was William H. Crom, Jr., of 16 Bayberry Lane, Mountain-side, N. J., a brother of the groom. Ushers were S.N.C. Chen of Hong Kong and John E. Matheson of Vancouver, Wash., both students at Syracuse University.

Music for the processional was the Wedding March by Lohengrin. Purcell's Trumpet Voluntary was played for the recessional.

Following the wedding a breakfast for 30 was held at the Corinthian Club in Syracuse. The couple then left for a wedding trip to the Thousand Islands, staying at Alexandria Bay.

The bride received her BS degree at the New York State Teachers College, Plattsburgh, and her MA degree in education at Syracuse University. She taught home economics at Solvay Junior and Senior High School, Solvay. She was a graduate of Kingston High School in the class of 1946.

The groom was graduated from George Washington University, Washington, D. C. and received his MA in library science at Syracuse. He has a position at the University of Maryland, Baltimore, Md., beginning in late August.

Cordts Hose Ladies

The regular monthly meeting of Cordts Hose Company Ladies' Auxiliary will be held today at 8:15 p. m. at the engine house, Delaware avenue.

Ruth Bold Is Wed

To John H. Brooks

Mrs. Jessie A. Gumaer announces the marriage of her daughter, Ruth G. Bold, to John Howard Brooks, son of Mrs. Brooks and the late Charles Brooks of 98 Henry street on Sunday, June 27. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Cain, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church.

Arthur Sottile of 245 Broadway, Kingston, was best man.

A reception dinner followed for the immediate wedding party at the Beau Rivage in Newburgh. The couple later left for a wedding journey to Niagara Falls and Ontario, Canada. They will make their future home at 52 Washington avenue, Saugerties.

Mrs. Finkle was graduated from Saugerties High School. The bridegroom was graduated from Kingston High School and is an operating engineer on foreign construction.

The time of the annual meeting for 1955 was left to the discretion of the officers.

Home Bureau

The greater executive committee of the Ulster County Home Bureau met for a covered dish luncheon and annual business meeting Wednesday, June 30, at the home of Mrs. Arnold Van Lear, chairman, at High Falls.

Mrs. William Douglas was appointed to bring the Home Bureau History up to date during the coming year. Mrs. Millard Davis will assist her.

By a motion, unanimously supported, the officers were selected for another term. Besides Mrs. Van Lear, they are Mrs. Frances Davenport, vice chairman and Mrs. David DuBois, secretary.

Announcement was made of the appointment of Mrs. DuBois by the New York State Federation of Home Bureaus to represent that organization on the New York State Council of Rural Women. Mrs. DuBois reported that one of the activities of the council is international friendships in which connection she entertained students from other countries.

For traveling the bride chose a gray suit trimmed with black and with red accessories and red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Constable will make their home at 55 Newkirk avenue.

Bel Arte Trio Will Open Berkshire Festival at Lenox

The Bel Arte string trio and pianist Claudio Arrau will open the 17th Berkshire Festival today at 8:30 p.m. in the Theatre-Concert Hall, Tanglewood, Lenox, Mass. This is the first of a series of six concerts of chamber music by noted ensembles and soloists.

This evening's all-Beethoven program of chamber music in the Theatre-Concert Hall will mark the first Tanglewood performance of the trio, which consists of Ruth Posselt, violinist; Joseph de Pasquale, violist; and Martin Hoherman, violoncellist. Although the ensemble was formed only a few years ago, each of the artists is intimately connected with the Berkshire Music Center.

Mr. Arrau, who will play three Beethoven piano sonatas at this opening program, is donating his services to the Berkshire Music Center for the evening. He has appeared at Tanglewood in previous festivals as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and will perform again with the full 104-piece orchestra, Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the Music Shed, in the Beethoven "Emperor" Piano Concerto with Pierre Monteux as guest conductor. Pierre Monteux will lead the orchestra in an all-Beethoven program, including the Overture to Leonoore No. 3, the Fifth Symphony, and the Emperor Concerto, with Mr. Arrau as soloist.

The Shed concerts commence with the first Tanglewood presentation, Saturday, of Hector Berlioz's massive The Damnation of Faust, with Charles Munch conducting the Boston Symphony Orchestra, with the Harvard Glee Club and the Radcliffe Choral Society, and soloists Eleanor Steber, soprano; David Poleri, tenor; Martial Singher, baritone; Donald Gramm, bass-baritone; and Sunday, guest conductor Pierre Monteux will lead the orchestra in an all-Beethoven program, including the Overture to Leonoore No. 3, the Fifth Symphony, and the Emperor Concerto, with Mr. Arrau as soloist.

THE RIGHT TO A NAME

A letter tells me: "The daughter of one of our friends has a very lovely and unusual name. I am expecting a baby soon and if it is a girl I would like very much to give her this same name. Would there be any objection to this? Should I ask the mother if she minds my giving our daughter this name, before doing so?"

If it is a name that can be found in a recognized list of girl's names, you are perfectly free to use it. But if it is a very unusual or especial family name, you should most certainly ask her permission to use it. And if she shows any hesitancy in giving you her permission, it would be better to choose another name.

At Home

Dear Mrs. Post: We were married about six months ago and at that time bought our own house. Because we had to wait a considerable time for our furniture, and were unsettled, we did not entertain. Now that our house is in order, we would like to let our friends know that we are ready to receive visitors. Would it be proper to send out At Home Cards, and, if

Answer: Since the message would be sent only to the people you know well and really want to see, I would suggest that you either telephone your friends, or write across your visiting card, "We are always home Sunday (or whatever day) afternoons. Do come in and see us soon!"

Boy Friend's Hat

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening after a movie, my boy friend and I stopped in at a drugstore and sat at the soda fountain to have a cold drink. My friend did not take off his hat which I believe a gentleman should do when he is with a lady. Wasn't this bad manners on his part?

Answer: At the typical drug-store counter, there is no place for him to put it except on his head. His lap would be too slanting to hold his hat securely, and he certainly couldn't lay it on the counter.

A shower for the bride or new neighbor can be enjoyable as well as inexpensive and entertaining. The gifts can be any price, attractively wrapped with amusing greeting cards. Mrs. Post's leaflet E-13, includes details. She is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Miss Dolores M. Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Gilbert of Hurley, became the bride of Frank Boice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Boice, Sawkill road, in a double ring ceremony performed Sunday, July 4, at 1:30 p.m. at Old Dutch Church. The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor, officiated.

Donald Romme was organist and Mrs. Doris Walker was vocalist. Musical selections offered during the ceremony included Because The Lord's Prayer and O, Promise Me.

The church was decorated with assorted cut flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slipper satin gown fashioned with basque bodice, long tapered sleeves, rounded illusion neck set with sequins and seed pearls, bouffant skirt and cathedral train. Her silk-illusion cathedral veil was secured by shell-edged scoop headpiece set with sequins and seed pearls. Her flowers included a cascade bouquet of white asters.

Miss Leona Boice, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, wore a Nile green ankle-length gown, net over taffeta, fitted strapless bodice, bolero jacket and worn matching shoes and headpiece. She wore an arm bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Ruth Lee of Hurley, the bride's foster sister and Miss Eleanor Greene of Lake Katrine were bridesmaids. They were attired in matching gowns of pink ankle-length gowns with net over taffeta, fitted strapless bodice, bolero jacket and worn matching shoes and headpiece. They wore arm bouquets of pale pink rose buds.

Miss Cathy Coles, cousin of the bride, as flower girl, wore a yellow full-length net over taffeta gown with fitted bodice and puffed sleeves with headpiece to match. She wore an arm bouquet of pale pink rose buds.

Best man was Wayne Gilbert of Hurley, brother of the bride. Ushears were Albert Maggiore of the Sawkill road and Edwin Secor of Ashokan, uncle of the bride. John Secor, cousin of the bride, was the child ringbearer.

A reception for about 30 guests of the immediate family followed at the home of the bride's parents. The couple later left on a wedding journey through the south to Louisville, Ky., where they will stay two weeks. For traveling, the bride chose a pale blue suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

They will make their future home on Gallis Hill on the Halcott Mountain road.

Mrs. Boice is a graduate of Kingston High School, Class of 1954, where she majored in business and was an active member of Prisma.

The bridegroom attended Kingston High School and is now employed as a brazer at the Hiltibrant Dry Dock Co., Conn.

Porter of New Paltz officiating. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pink and white ensemble with white accessories and carried a bride's bouquet of white gladioli with ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Thomas Apuzzo of Ardonia, as matron of honor, wore a blue gown with white accessories and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Thomas Apuzzo of Ardonia was best man.

A reception followed for 50 guests at 10 Church street given by Miss Winona Wynkoop, daughter of the bride, and Mrs.

Bertha Ganzer, both of New Paltz.

The couple left on a wedding trip through New England and part of Canada. They will make their future home in New Paltz.

Dodger Rookies Booked for Stadium August 9

All-Star Squad
From Rec League
To Play Visitors

Proceeds of Game
To League Fund

An all-star team recruited from the Recreation League will meet the Brooklyn Dodger Rookies Monday, Aug. 9, at Dietz Memorial Stadium, at the Recreation Department said today.

The game marks a resumption of the series conducted by the Kingston Athletic Association for a number of years and by the Recreation Department two years ago when the O'Brien twins of Seattle University made an appearance.

Proceeds of the game will go to the Recreation Baseball League fund, Harry L. Edson said.

Edson said efforts would be made to have the Dodgers stage a tryout camp at the stadium on the day of the game. The contest will be played at night.

The Brooklyn team will be managed by Art Dede, one of the Dodgers' top scouts, and A. B. "Turk" Karem, who is well known to Kingston baseball fans.

Coaches to Pick Team

Selection of the Kingston squad will be conducted after tryouts supervised by several coaches of the Recreation League, among them John Bechtold, Frank Nadal, Eddie Bahl, Buddy Harder, Joe Amato, Sonny Woods and others.

The Brooklyn Dodger Rookies team originated in 1940 and continued until 1946 when it became the "Brooklyn Against the World" program. In 1952 the team was re-named the Dodger Rookies.

Since the first rookie team was formed, a team has been selected annually by the Dodger organization to represent the borough of Brooklyn.

In the past, the Brooklyn Rookies have played the World All Stars, which was formed of players from all over the United States, Canada, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Cuba. However, the trend in recent years has been to play all-star teams representing various communities in the northeastern part of the United States.

Six U. S. Golfers Are Left in British Open

Southport, England, July 8 (AP)—Ninety-seven golfers from 14 countries go out today in the second round of the British Open championship—and poor rounds mean "sudden death" for 47 of them.

After today's play, the field is cut to the 50 low scorers. They compete over the final 36-holes on Friday. First prize money is $750 pounds ($2,100).

The field, including the six Americans left from an original squad of nine, is chasing two Englishmen—43-year-old Sam King and 42-year-old Bill Spence. King and Spence shot record-equalling 69s in the first round yesterday on the breezy 6,837-yard par-73 Birkdale course to tie for the lead with a one stroke margin over their closest rival.

Behind them in closest contention is Norman Sutton, an Englishman, with 70, and a trio of 71s by Antonio Cerda of Argentina and Britain's George Howard and J. R. M. Jacobs.

The closest American challenger is Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., who played on the United States Ryder Cup team at Wentworth, England, last year, with a 72.

Giants' Mid-Season Margin Biggest in Last 18 Seasons

NL Leaders Wallop Flock Fifth in Row

(By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer)

The New York Giants, rolling along at a phenomenal .861 pace since June 3, today are proud possessors of the biggest lead any Giant team has enjoyed past the mid-season mark in 18 years.

Not since September 25, 1936, when the Giants led the Chicago Cubs by seven games has a Giant club led by more than the current 5½ game margin they boast over the Brooklyn Dodgers. The 1945 Giants led by 6½ games but that was early in the campaign.

The 1936 Giants went on to win the pennant by five games. Two years before that, however, the 1934 Giants owned a six-game bulge over the St. Louis Cardinals as late as Sept. 6 but the Redbirds overhauled them to win the pennant by two games.

Since 1936, the Giants have won two pennants—in 1937 and in 1951. Their biggest margin in 1937 was 4½ games. In 1951, they didn't grab exclusive possession of first place until after the first post season playoff game with the Dodgers.

Crack Four Homers

The Giants not only captured their 31st victory in the last 37 games but made it five in a row over Brooklyn last night with a resounding 10-2 triumph. They wallop four home runs, scored four runs in each of the first and fifth innings and whipped Don Newcombe for the first time at Ebbets Field since the big Negro righthander joined the Dodgers in 1949.

To rub it in, Jim Hearn, the Giants' righthander went the route only for the second time this season and registered his first Ebbets Field triumph since July 3, 1952.

Mays Blasts 28th

Willie Mays, Monte Irvin, Wes Westrum and Alvin Dark smacked the homers as did Gil Hodges of the Dodgers. It was No. 28 for Mays who leads both leagues in home runs.

Cleveland's Indians continued their winning ways, dubbing the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 for their 10th victory in the last 11 games. The Indians got all their runs in the second inning to maintain their 3½ game lead over the New York Yankees who trounced the Boston Red Sox 17-9. Chicago's White Sox, struggling to stay within reach of the Indians, shut out Detroit 9-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Don Johnson.

Nichols Bests Pollet

Milwaukee's Braves nipped the Chicago Cubs 1-0 as Chet Nichols outrelied Howie Pollet in a southpaw duel. Danny O'Connell's seventh inning single followed by Jim Pendleton's double accounted for the lone run.

The closest American challenge is Norman Sutton, an Englishman, with 70, and a trio of 71s by Antonio Cerda of Argentina and Britain's George Howard and J. R. M. Jacobs.

The closest American challenger is Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., who played on the United States Ryder Cup team at Wentworth, England, last year, with a 72.

old and familiar faces on the Rondout, will return for the 13th annual fixture Sunday, July 11.

Don Whitfield of Verona, N. J., a former national Class M hydroplane champion, was one of three to sweep a twoheat event for a perfect score of 800 points.

The others were James Campbell of Danville, Pa., who took two heats in Class A and Gil Peterman of Malverne, L. I., who won the crowded Class B event in straight heats.

All three aces are entered in Sunday's local event along with George Andrews of Matawan, who split two heats in Class C with Vic Scott of East Belmore, L. I., former national champion and twice winner of the old Albany-to-New York Driftwood Derby.

Mayers Compete

Another popular fixture, the husband-wife team of Emil and Dotty Mayer of College Point, L. I., took part in the Keyport event and will be here Sunday.

Mrs. Mayer won the national Class M championship last fall at Biloxi, Miss., but her boat conked out in Class M, although she placed third and fourth in the Class A heats. Her husband placed second and third in the Class C event, finishing second on points behind Andrews.

Rudy Reisert, a Class C star who competed here last year, was disqualified for jumping the gun in both heats of his specialty.

Other KPBA competitors who placed at Keyport were Marston Grevatt, Bruno Piergiani, Ed Van Houten, and Al Harjes.

Wotowitz to Appear

Neal Bruck, chairman of the KPBA regatta committee, announced today that Joe Wotowitz, Hartford, Conn., veteran, and Fred Mathews, former national champion of Watervliet would also be in the field.

The KPBA will meet tonight at 8:30 to make final plans for Sunday's regatta.

Newport Dream May Miss Goshen

Goshen, July 8 (AP)—Newport Dream, early favorite for the $115,000 Hambletonian, has a mystery ailment that might keep him out of the famous trotting classic here next month, trainer-driver Del Cameron said today.

The 3-year-old son of Axomite is a full brother to Newport Dream, beaten favorite in the 1953 Hambletonian. Both are sons of Axomite-Miss Key, but Newport Dream hasn't been able to start a race this season because of some trouble either in his left foreleg or shoulder.

"He's been improving in the last 10 days," said Cameron, who brought the colt to Goshen from Vernon Downs, "just to keep an eye on him this week." Cameron had hoped to start Newport Dream, owned by the Newport stock farm of Octave Blake, South Plainfield, N. J., in the Historic-Dickerson Cup yesterday.

1953, and won 20 of 22 starts. His earnings totalled $94,000, a record for a 2-year-old harness horse.

Both the Hiltebrants Pirates and Island Dock Tigers collected four hits but the Pirates took the edge in the run column as they scored a 6 to 1 victory Wednesday night in the National Little League.

A walk and Mike Spada's homer gave Hiltebrants all the runs they needed in the second inning but the winners came back with three more in the third. Singles by John Fiore and Paul Turck, two walks, a bunt and a double by Frank Bonavito did the trick.

Island Dock scored its lone tally in the fourth.

Reid Fans 13

Frank Reid hurled for Hiltebrants and piled up 13 strikeouts while issuing only one walk. Charlie Blanchan and Tom McAndrew divided the mound chores for Island Dock. McAndrew fanned three and walked four. Blanchan issued two free tickets.

Besides Mike Spada's homer, the other extra base blows included doubles by Frank Bonavito, Al Brown and Charlie Blanchan.

The victory gave Hiltebrants a 2½-game lead over the second place Trailways Braves.

Kingston Archers Get Several Wins At Poughkeepsie

Kingston Archery Club members won three firsts and several runnerup spots in a 56-target field archery shoot sponsored by the Dutchess Bowmen at Pratt Park in Poughkeepsie.

Dorothea Walther, the well-known bowler, topped first place in the women's Archer division with 193 points. Ross Rhymer took a third with 171 points.

Shirley Kemlage and Helen Conlin of Kingston finished one-two in the women's Novice division, with 84 and 56 points respectively.

June Stopski captured the Open division with 72 points. Joe Heldcamp won the running deer event in the freestyle section, while Ed Rhymer picked up a second in the Intermediate division.

Del Viccam of Lenape men of Port Jervis led a field of 110 in the shoot with 529 points in two trips around the 28-target course. Seventeen archery clubs from New York state were represented.

The national field archery championships are scheduled for July 12, at Mt. Sunapee, N. H.

Turnesa Is State Head Of Golfers

Elmsford, July 8 (AP)—Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, twice United States and former New York state and British amateur champion, is the new president of the New York State Golf Assn.

Turnesa, who had been serving as vice-president and state tournament chairman, was elected yesterday to succeed Jack Ahern of Buffalo.

Other officers elected were: Fred Wright of Tuckahoe, Pierce Russell of Troy, and Bill Bogle of Poughkeepsie, vice presidents; Ronald Brownell of Utica, treasurer, and Romeyne B. Scribner of Rye, secretary.

Members of the executive board include: Vincent Smith of Binghamton, Robert Fisher of Jamestown, Mike Hall of Rochester, Dr. Rocco Impaglia of Auburn, Bob Causer of Ithaca, Mrs. Janet Noerling of Valatie, Roger Prescott of Lake Placid, and Ahern.

The Moon Brook Country Club, Jamestown, was selected for the 1954 tournament.

Three Favorites Still in Running For State Title

Elmsford, July 8 (AP)—The three top favorites were still in the running for the New York State Amateur Golf championship as 64 players swung into the 32 second round matches today.

Defending champion Tommy Goodwin of Rye; Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, former state, United States and British amateur champion and Bob Sweeny, British amateur champion from Sands Point, paced the field through yesterday's first round with only Sweeny having a comparative easy time.

Goodwin, a husky athlete who spends his winters in the Bahamas and his summers golfing in New York, had a difficult time in defeating Thomas Christian, Oswego school teacher, 1-up in the first round. Today he meets Jim Brock of Utica, who defeated William Robertson of Syracuse 2 and 1.

Christian pulled even after Goodwin won the first four holes. They were all even playing the 18th hole when Christian went over the green with a second, and the ball rolled into the outdoor press tent. After a ruling, Christian was allowed to lift the ball and placed it without a penalty. Christian lost the hole 5-4.

Turnesa turned back William Reynolds of Jamestown, 2 and 1, and will meet Monroe Froehlich, Jr., of Woodmere, who defeated Robert Murchie of Oswego 1-up in the first round.

Poughkeepsie Man Loses

Sweeny, also moved through the opening round of the all-match play tourney, by defeating Bruce Corby of Poughkeepsie, 4 and 2. He will face Gerry Sullivan of Binghamton, who took Jim Ciocci of Canandaigua 6 and 4 yesterday.

One of the opening day's biggest upsets was by 18-year-old Terry Thomas of Rochester, who downed the 1952 metropolitan amateur champion Joe Marra of White Plains 1-up.

Police of departments throughout the county and police units attached to various fire companies checked all churches and public buildings and maintained patrols through the night.

Police Chief Abe Stern of Ramapo, which embraces Viola, said he could not understand any cause other than arson for the fire in the Viola church. He said however, that he had not found any evidence yet.

Police Chief Ernest Wiebecki of Clarkstown, which polices Nanuet, said he also was investigating the possibility of arson in the Nanuet church fire. Both Stern and Wiebecki said the combination of two church fires and two false alarms in the same area within such a short time gave grounds for suspicion of arson.

THE MARQUEE

T.V.—STAGE—RADIO—RECORDS—PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

Summer is here in full humidity, and with it the annual parade of summer replacements. (It isn't the heat, it's the lack of talent.) The networks have missed a beat all these years in not replacing shows with items more in keeping with the season. The replacements could all be nice and summery:

Replacing Sid Caesar, a home freezer. For Emerson (Faye), a sunny day. Batting for Berle, a bathing girl. For Tex and for Jinx, some cooling drinks. In friend Irma's spot, nights not so hot. For Bob Montgomery, a weather summery.

But the ideal replacement is a nice, cool, comfortable basement.

Everybody put on his thinking cap. We're confronted with a large problem, to wit: what is Ruby Mercer?

To set the scene a bit, Ruby Mercer is a former Met opera soprano, a former Broadway musical star, a former Hollywood actress, a present radio performer and a future (she hopes) TV star. She has a popular afternoon program on the Mutual radio network. It is this show that poses the problem.

"What sort of a show is it?" she echoed. "That's a good question. Maybe somebody can help me identify it."

And she explained — she interviews people, talks about news, plays records, comments on things and generally comports herself amusingly. As you can see, she's many things, and has an honest pose in identifying her type of program to people who've never heard it.

Hightop of her show, to many listeners, is the daily interview. She departmentalizes these — one day is sports day, one day home day, one day opera day and so on. And Miss Mercer, a tall, attractive blonde with a pair of disarming blue eyes, has a wonderful knack for getting people to loosen up.

She has three methods for "unfreezing a dog" — her way of saying getting a shy guest to start talking.

First is the shock treatment — saying something unexpected which will produce a talkative reaction. Second is humor — "there's only one or two things to say and that's all they can talk about."

Anybody know what Miss Mercer is? All suggestions gratefully accepted.

When Lisa Kirk goes to Las Vegas soon, to do her act at the Last Frontier, she'll make one appropriate change in her routine. One number calls for her to hand carnations to the men in the audience. But in Las Vegas she's going to switch and give out four leaf clovers.

At the end of Guy Lombardo's "Arabian Nights," the extravaganza out at Jones Beach, the prince and princess will sail away in a Chinese junk. The audience is rightly curious about where Lombardo got a junk around New York harbor. That's not their natural habitat.

It turns out to be the good ship "Amoy," owned by Alfred Nilson, a Mutual Broadcasting System engineer. The Nilson family has lived on it for 31 years, and Lombardo persuaded them to moor it in Zach's Bay, off Jones Beach, for the summer. Nilson, himself, is presently at Saranac Lake where he engineers MBS' Gabriel Heater program all summer.

And so, every night, Mrs. Nilson and the three Nilson sons sail the 68-foot vessel around the stage, pick up the prince and princess, sail off stage and then go back to the mooring and go to sleep.

Gives Up Attempt

Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, Calif., July 8 (AP)—Sickened by swallowing some of the Catalina channel's choppy waters, Winnie Roach gave up her attempt to swim to the mainland today after an hour and 50 minutes of struggling. The 28-year-old mother of three plunged into the surf at Emerald Bay at 2:59 a.m. (Pacific Daylight Time). She was pulled into a rowboat by her father at 4:49, exhausted and nauseated. The Canadian swimmer had hoped to reach the mainland 21 miles away. The attempt had been postponed more than 24 hours because of winds up to 20 m.p.h.

Collision Reported

An automobile driven by Richard G. Edwards, 16, of Accord, skidded on loose gravel on a county road one-half mile east of Alligerville about 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, struck a tree and the left rear of the vehicle then collided with an automobile driven by Mieczyslaw Robaczynski, 32, of New York city, state police reported. A child riding in one of the vehicles received a cut over the left eye, but no other personal injuries were reported.

Reports Boat Missing

Kenneth Ostrander of Guyton street reported to the sheriff's office on Wednesday that his boat was missing from the Esopus creek near the Pratt Boice farm. It was 14-foot wooden boat with the bow decked over. He said the exterior and interior were painted gray, the canopy over the bow painted red, and a newly replaced board across the stern had not been painted. The sheriff's office asked that anyone having seen the boat call them at 3640.

Stains Still Visible On Cemetery Statue

Red stains were still visible on the statue of the Sacred Heart of Jesus in St. Mary's Cemetery on Barclay Heights, Saugerties, it was reported today.

The "bleeding" statue drew thousands of visitors during the July 4 weekend, but the number of daytime visitors slackened considerably during the week. There were still a considerable number of persons stopping during the evening hours.

The stains were attributed to a substance which authorities have said definitely was not blood, but which they have not positively identified.

However, the Czech reply note to the United States as read over the Prague radio insisted that "their confession and behaviour confirm the group entered Czech territory to conduct an espionage mission."

The Czech note said further the soldiers confessed that they entered Czech territory by illegal means and that films found on them revealed that they had photographed objects on Czechoslovak soil.

The Prague broadcast said the Americans—whom it identified only as belonging to the 816th Field Artillery battalion—were arrested July 4 near the town of Tachov after trying to elude the border guards.

The Czech note lodged a protest against what it called violation of Czechoslovak's sovereignty.

West German police have said the Czechs tried to trade the captured Americans for three Czechoslovak political refugees who escaped to the west recently. The Germans said they rejected the offer.

State Department press officer Henry Suydam would not say what this country was planning to do, should the Czech government refuse to return the Americans.

Victim

The battered body of Judith Ann Roberts, above, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts of Baltimore, Md., was found July 7, by police in Miami, Fla. The Roberts' were visiting Mrs. Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenberg early in the morning. Her disappearance was discovered by her grandmother when she was awakened by the noise of a car. Homicide detective I. J. Whitman said the child was kidnapped and murdered. (AP Wirephoto)

Local Resident in Photo of Liberty Bell on Saturday

A picture of a group of people surrounding the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia, Pa., printed in the July 2 issue of The Freeman, has a resident of Kingston in it, it was learned today.

The picture, captioned "Eternal Vigilance Is the Price of Liberty," shows Mrs. Frank R. Rogers of 203 Elmendorf street in the lower right hand corner. She is holding a baby in her arms—her daughter who graduated in June from the MMJ School.

Mrs. Rogers explained that the picture had been taken July 4, 1941, on the 165th anniversary of American Independence.

She said the original picture was published in the Philadelphia Inquirer on July 5, 1941. She also has the flag which she was holding in her hand when the picture was taken and a program of events.

Krumville

Krumville, July 9—Miss Ellen Anderson spent July 4 weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson.

Mrs. Frank Anderson, Mrs. Joseph Whitney from New Jersey and William Steper were recent callers at the home of Mrs. Juan Botella on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Martinson called Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Borchart.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flora and family of Brooklyn called Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Borchart.

Many New York people spent July 4 weekend at their summer places here.

Two Plead Innocent

New York, July 8 (AP)—Two New Jersey men pleaded innocent yesterday before Federal Judge J. Skelly Wright to a charge of taking a $33,000 payroll at gunpoint in Orangeburg.

Wright, tentatively scheduled Aug. 4 for trial, Edward Ryan, 27, of Emerson, and Stanley Kowalski, 25, of Hackensack, were arrested last May in New Jersey by FBI agents, who said they recovered some of the stolen money. The pair were indicted by a grand jury on charges of robbing the payroll on April 16 from two employees of the First National Bank of Spring Valley, who were carrying it to the Orangeburg Manufacturing Co.

System to Be Used

Trenton, N. J., July 8 (AP)—New Jersey State Treasurer Archibald S. Alexander today announced a new "surprise" system of checking banks which he said would have made it impossible for the late Harold G. Hoffman to have covered up his confessed $300,000 embezzlement of the South Amboy Trust Co. Alexander told a news conference the new system would be under the direction of the state auditor, who is an officer of the Legislature.

Typhoon's Course Cited

Manila, July 8 (AP)—A typhoon generating winds up to 90 miles an hour churned slowly toward the Ryukyu Islands from the southwest Pacific today. The big U. S. base of Okinawa is in the Ryukyus. The Manila Weather Bureau said the tropical storm was about 570 miles east southeast of the Philippines' northern tip.

Pressure Is Reported

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Rep. Abernethy (D-Miss.) said today he has been told House Republicans were subjected to "terrific pressures and stringent disciplinary action" to line them up last week for flexible farm price supports.

Boat's Skipper Sends His Thanks

Mayor Frederick H. Stang recently received the following letter of thanks from D. L. Keach, skipper of the USS PCE-895, which visited the city last month.

Honorable Frederick H. Stang
Mayor, City of Kingston
Kingston, New York

My dear Mayor Stang:

On behalf of the officers and crew of the USS PCE-895, I wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to you and the people of Kingston for your gracious hospitality during our visit to Kingston. Your generosity and thoughtfulness in providing recreation, entertainment, and transportation for the officers and men are truly appreciated.

It was indeed a pleasure to visit a city in which "all hands" were received so cordially. We are looking forward to a return visit and our thanks again for making our stay in Kingston so pleasant.

Sincerely yours,
D. L. Keach

Hotel Manager Killed

New York, July 8 (AP)—Emil Ronay, 67, managing director of the Hotel Salisbury, 123 West 57th street, was killed today in a plunge from his 17th floor suite at the hotel. Police said they found two notes. One said there was "no need for the morgue or an autopsy, as I'm taking my own life," police reported, and the other read "I couldn't stand the suffering anymore." The body landed on 57th street in front of the Calvary Baptist church, which occupies part of the lower floor of the hotel. Police said his wife has been hospitalized for about six months. He also is survived by a son, Andrew.

Two Drivers Are Taken on Charges

Two drivers were arrested here yesterday on charges of speeding and one for allegedly driving while his license was revoked and with a switched plate.

Joel S. Rosenschein, 19, of 815 Fairmont Place, Bronx, was arrested on Hurley avenue, near the city line, by Officers Charles McCullough and William Snyder, on a speeding charge, and Jack Richman, 26, of 234 Henry street was arrested by Officers Floyd Krom and Gilbert Gray, for allegedly speeding on Tremper avenue.

Rosenschein forfeited $10 bail and Richman pleaded not guilty today before Special City Judge Harry Gold, who set hearing for July 16.

Officer William Norton arrested Carson Emberson, Jr., 31, of 608 Broadway, at 7:50 p.m. yesterday, on Broadway near Cornell street, on the charges of driving while his license was revoked and for allegedly having a switched plate. He was fined $10 on the plate charge, pleaded innocent on the other. Hearing was set on the latter charge for July 15.

The government appealed, contending that Youngdahl "misconstrued the courts so as to create the new and spurious issues of free speech, conformity of ideas, imposition of orthodox views, et cetera."
